for each country. The SMS gateway provider allows companies to send up to 2.5 million text messages every day, which is like sending 30 SMS in a second, with virtually no upper limit. They provide detailed reports on delivery so that the quality and performance of the distribution can be evaluated. If a text message is not delivered, Vonage will provide the customer with a breakdown of the reason why it has not been distributed. Our SMS review Vonage found that the reliability of the provider's gateway service has a service level agreement that provides a 99.95% time guarantee, which indicates its reliability in dissemination text messages is efficient and effective. If a server goes down or another problem occurs, this provider ensures that companies will receive an alert and will immediately act the problem.
